The News is orlways red owt by peepul hoo tork proper and nevar burp or trump or pik there nose. I reckern they are too perfect to be troo, so they must be speshul news-reading rowbots, so whye shud wee beleieve a word they saye is wot I'de lyke to knowe.

Aftar they hav told us orl abowt fites, robbereyes, riots, wars, playgues, the owzone layer, and howe wee're orl going to dye hideeously, then they do a "funnie" storey abowt a skate-bording duk or singing welk, to chere us up.

I must saye, these items mayke mee glad to bee alive. Well, they wud if I woz a skate-bording duk lukking for a pal, or a lonelie welk dying for a duet.

OINK'S ILLUSTRATED LIVES OF THE FAMOUS

THIS WEEK:

WILLIAM SHAKESPIG

William - Swill to his pals - lived in Fattford-upon-Avon in the Pigteenth Century. He started as an actor, a bit of a ham, but is best known as a playwright, although many people, amazingly enough, believe his plays were really written by a man named Bacon. Swill was married to Spam Hathaway, and his most famous works include: The Taming of the Sow; A Midsummer Night's Dirty Great Big Fry-Up; Julius Caesar, the Roman Boar; MacBacon; The Winter's Curly Tail; Munch a Stew about Crackling; Romeo and Juliet Pig-Out; and, of course, Hamlet. He died in 1613, which was strange, because his doctor thought he was cured.

Well...as far as i can make out...z.z. top are absolutely bobbins...and they are about as interesting as that box of very funny silver water someone sent me last year.

pink floyd f.c. play man city

hot news from the football world is that pink floyd (pictured above, in action at a recent match) are to play manchester city at their mainie road ground this august. the 4 man team have a hard game ahead...and they also had to get special permission from the f.a. to play in their 2nd hand burnley shirts along with their maroon crushed velvet flares.
